Once Questioned Biblical Author Now Fully Credited, Says Sir William Ramsay.

SOME RECENT DISCOVERIES

Distinguished Archaeologist Says Historical and Geographical Detail Is Confirmed.

"The conviction of the fidelity of the historical and geographical detail in the Gospel of Luke and the Acts of the Apostles, as well as the belief in the authorship of Luke, has gradually been taking hold among European scholars during the last twenty-five years," said Sir William Ramsay last night, in concluding the first of the series of lectures he is to deliver in Union Theological Seminary this week on "The Bearing of Recent Discoveries on the Trustworthiness of the New Testament."

"Whereas, thirty years ago in scholarly circles of Europe it was the accepted belief that the books accredited to Luke were written two centuries after Christ by someone in Ephesus, it has now come about that many of the most thoughtful men in the universities of England and the Continent acknowledge Luke's authorship of them, and admit his accuracy of detail."

Famous Archaeologist. Sir William Ramsay, who before retirement was a professor in Oxford University and then in Aberdeen University, is generally regarded as the highest living authority on biblical archaeology. His research and explorations in Asia Minor and Turkey have been productive of the most valuable and trustworthy results in the study of the New Testament in many years. He was knighted by King Edward VII. in 1906.

A Good Appetite Is a Glorious Thing

And Any Person Can Have a Rip-Roaring One If Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Are Used

The secret of appetite lies in a healthy and normal desire for food on the part of the stomach and other digestive organs.

Your digestive apparatus always wants more food when it is normal, and it wants all kinds of food, both heavy and light, sweet and sour. These qualities are needed by man's blood, and so the system craves them. This craving is appetite.

"Ever Since I Used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets I Simply Delight in Food."

The real value in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets consists of their instant acting digestive abilities. They digest the food in the stomach very quickly, stop irritation, rest the stomach, and when the nourishment of the food is taken into the system, the rest of the blood and thus replenish the digestive fluids.

Thousands of men and women in this country have proved to their complete satisfaction, the great digestive and curative values of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

One ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is so powerful that one grain will digest 2,000 grains of food, and it will even do this in a glass tube without the aid of man's stomach. Just think what this means when your stomach is raw and filled with hurtful acids and alkalis. The rest it will receive will be precious.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists everywhere. Obtain a box, 50 cents, to-day and take a tablet after your next meal just to prove how easily you can digest that meal—Advertisement.

TWO BOYS ANXIOUS TO GO BACK HOME

Tell Policeman They Are Hungry and Weary—Came Here From New Haven.

Weary and foot-sore, two sixteen-year-old boys, who said that their names were George H. Clough and Frank McCarroll, went up to Bicycle Policeman Traylor, in Libby Hill Park yesterday morning, and told him they had run away from their homes in New Haven, Conn. "We're hungry and have no money," one of them said, "and we want to go back home."

Traylor took them to the First Police Station, where he related their story to Acting Captain Holdcroft. As soon as he learned the boys had had nothing to eat for many hours, he was the first to contribute to a collection to buy them breakfast.

The runaways said they left home because they "had nothing to do." They "beat" their way to Richmond by stealing rides on freight trains. Their appearance gave every indication that they had a hard journey. Both said their parents were too poor to send money for their transportation home.

Acting Chief of Police Pollock has communicated with the New Haven police to know what disposition to make of the boys' case. In the meantime they will be cared for at the Juvenile Detention Home.

OTHERS SLEPT SHE WORKED
While Others Were Fast Asleep, Mrs. Sanders Would Often Get Out of Bed and Do Sewing

Cadiz, Ky.—"I was in a terrible condition, caused from nervousness," says Mrs. Boon Sanders, of this place. "At times, last spring and summer, I did not get any rest at night; could not sleep at all. Very often I would get out of my bed and do some of my sewing, while the rest of the family were fast asleep."

One of my lady friends advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. Just as soon as I commenced taking it I began resting better. After taking four bottles I now feel better, and get perfect rest and plenty of sleep. I am doing every bit of my housework now, and although I am small, I feel very strong in every way."

You may publish this letter if you wish, as I hope all women who suffer as I did will try Cardui and get relief."

BLUE TAGS FOR MOTOR CARS

Tags to Be Issued Only in Numerical Order Next Year.

Blue and white automobile State license tags will decorate the rear of motor cars in Virginia in 1914. This momentous question of the hue of the new tags has been settled by Chief Clerk James M. Hayes, Jr., in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and the order for the 1914 lot placed. The background of the enamel tag will be dark blue and the numerals white, a combination expected to make the auto numbers easily distinguishable. Just 10,000 of the 1914 tags have been ordered. In 1913 only 9,000 were made, and all but fifty of this number have been distributed to automobile owners.

The problem of choosing the colors for the automobile license tags is not such a simple matter as it appears on the surface. First, it is essential that the tags must be radically different in hue from the tags of 1913, but at the same time consideration must be paid to the fact that the colors used on the tag must be distinctive and contrasting.

White is almost universally the color used for the numerals, the background varying from black to green, red, or blue, or yellow with the years. The Virginia tags of 1913 were red with white numerals, and in 1912 red with white lettering.

To Issue Tags in Order.
Mr. Hayes, whose duty it is to issue the license tags, has already announced his intention of issuing the first numbers next year only in their numerical order, going away with the practice of reserving certain tag numbers for automobile owners who applied for particular numbers for an argument.

For the sake of the efficiency of his office and the correctness of his records, Mr. Hayes will play no favorites, and the first man to apply will receive license tag No. 1, the second tag No. 2, and so on in their logical order.

BEFORE SUPREME COURT

Oral Argument Begins in Shreveport Rate Case.

Washington, October 28.—The Shreveport rate case, involving the first attempt of the Interstate Commerce Commission to require railroads to change rates wholly within a State, late today came before the Supreme Court of the United States for oral argument.

Railroads traversing Texas and Louisiana are seeking to have the court set aside the Interstate Commerce Commission's order requiring them to reduce rates for freight traffic from Shreveport, La., to Texas points or to increase the Texas rates for similar distances. The railroads say the Texas Railroad Commission required them to reduce rates.

The Louisiana Railroad Commission was allowed to participate in the argument, and the time for consideration of the case extended so that it will consume most of tomorrow.

M. Garwood, of Galveston, Texas, opened the case for the railroads today.

PASKERT OUT ON BAIL

Baseball Player Runs Down and Killed by Automobile.

Cleveland, Ohio, October 28.—George H. ("Daddy") Paskert, outfielder of the Philadelphia National League team, struck and fatally injured twelve-year-old John Paskert, his son, while driving through a crowded street. The boy's skull was fractured, and doctors say he cannot live. Traffic police reported that Paskert was not to blame for the accident. Later he was taken to police headquarters and held on a charge of violating the speed ordinance. To-night he was released on $500 bail furnished by his mother.

Taken Back to Suffolk.
Special to The Times-Dispatch.—Lynchburg, Va., October 28.—Ashley N. White, who was arrested here Sunday night and held on the charge of stealing a bicycle from Suffolk, was taken back to that town yesterday afternoon. Chief W. E. Brinkley coming here to take the prisoner back for trial.

GILBERT PARKER REACHES LONDON

On Return From America, Says God Has Done Much for United States.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.) London, October 28.—Sir Gilbert Parker, the novelist, returned to-day from his American tour, and for his first impression, he said:

"One of the things I feel certain that his word was in question, said to his secretary, with that half-sarcastic smile characteristic of his own race, and it seems to me he grows greater and greater."

Without cynicism I can say that God has done much for the United States. She is great and seems to grow greater every day. I find, however, that in spite of the political activities of these Presidents, that the financial conditions of the country are more sensitive and nervous than before, although there is no doubt that the country is a great state, and its affairs are accompanied by great commercial and industrial activity.

When mark itself seems to be great, now it is prodigious. I am confident that a great change has passed over the financial life of the country. I feel certain that the day of the great spectacular financier portfolio is gone, and that the most broadly organized financial life of the future, which is now being formed, will be multiplied over and over as the years go on. I do not say this is good or bad, nor whether it would make for the country's prosperity, but it is just one symptom in this particular phase of American progress.

The day of the great skyscrapers in New York, now there are so many of them, and they are so high, that they are like the financial skyscraper of old John Jacob Astor has been lost in the distance, and the new skyscrapers of the future are still amenable to the dictates of society."

CHANGE IN CORN GRADES

Will Be Discussed by Grain Trade Representatives To-Day.

Washington, October 28.—Representatives of grain trade organizations in various sections of the country to-day held an informal meeting here to discuss changes in corn grades proposed by the Department of Agriculture, on which a hearing to-morrow will be held by Secretary Houston. The meeting was held under the auspices of the legislative committee of the National Association of Grain Dealers. The government's plan involves an adoption of two new grades of corn, making the number six instead of four, and affecting the percentage of moisture to be contained by the various grades when marketed. The grain men object chiefly to the proposed change in the amount of moisture for No. 3 corn, with which the produce dealer chiefly is concerned. The government's proposition No. 3 would reduce this moisture from 16.5 to 17.5 per cent.

TRAINING SCHOOL ATTRACTS MANY

Baptist Workers Taking Active Part in Institute at First Church.

All previous sessions of the Richmond Training School for Sunday School Workers have been eclipsed by the one now in progress at the First Baptist Church, both in point of attendance and program. Yesterday afternoon hundreds of workers heard Mr. B. W. Spilman speak on "Foreign Missions." He gave a constructive lecture, which proved of deep interest.

There are about 200 graduates in Richmond of the first standard normal course of the Southern Baptist Convention, with many in other courses.

The purpose of the school is to give training in the various text-books of the course, in addition to general platform lectures and special conferences. In the class in the normal manual, taught by Rev. J. C. C. Dunford, there are more than seventy-five students.

In the advanced class, studying the graded Sunday school, under Rev. Harvey Beauchamp, there are fifty workers.

One of the features of the session is nightly lectures by Rev. J. T. Watts, general secretary. His talks are for representatives of the organized classes. Willingness to do classroom work this year has been unusually noticeable. Demonstrations in the beginners' and primary departments have been unusually useful.

The lectures of Professor A. T. Robertson of the Louisville seminary, on the "Life of Christ," have attracted considerable attention.

Today's program follows:
4 P. M. "Spiritual Uplift," John J. P. M. "Teaching Missions in the Class," B. W. Spilman.
7:45 P. M. "The Issue Pressed By Jesus," A. T. Robertson.
8:30 P. M. "Picture Truth," Robert F. Y. Pierce.
9:15 and 7 P. M. "The Normal Manual," J. C. C. Dunford.
9:35 and 7 P. M. "The Graded Sunday School," Harvey Beauchamp.
9:55 P. M. Junior Demonstration.
7 P. M. "Adult Conference," Joseph T. Watts.

INVASION OF RATS

Caused by Breaking Up of Old Hulks in Marine Graveyard.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Charleston, S. C., October 28.—An invasion of rats, brown, black and gray, carrying disease and death, is feared by many here as the result of the breaking up of old hulks in the marine graveyard.

The Board of Health and medical inspectors are making plans now to eliminate the possibility of more coming ashore.

According to Fred von Neida, a resident of that section, who first brought the matter to the Board of Health of Camden, the community is thoroughly overrun with rats, brown, black and gray, from all parts of the world, some of the average size, some as big as cats. They come, he says, from the old hulks, which are being brought up to that part of the river to be demolished. When the hulk is smashed the rats swim to shore.

PRESIDENT CRITICIZED

Civil Service Reform League Assails His Recent Order.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Washington, October 28.—President Wilson and his administration was criticized yesterday in a statement issued by the Civil Service Reform League.

The league takes issue with President Wilson over his assertion that deputy collectors of internal revenue and deputy marshals were not intended to come under the ordinary provision of the civil service law," says a statement from that organization. "It is hoped that the President will see his way clear to issue an active order righting the wrong done."
